

For several years, IBS Group's service strategy has been to develop centers of knowledge and excellence in the key industry groups driving the Indonesian economy.

Service teams have been established with team members who are dedicated to those industry groups but still able to call on specific insurance product expertise available from other teams, and from the specialist skills and experience available from our Risk Management, Reinsurance, Healthcare Management and Technology companies.

The result is a service capability with a unique depth of knowledge in the risk profile normally associated with their industry sector, and a thorough understanding of the key issues which will be of concern to the insurance and reinsurance markets who underwrite these risks.
